MAKE A DELIBERATE EFFORT TO BE PREPARED! NOW AND ALWAYS!

A close-up photograph of a person's hands holding a white sign. The person is wearing a yellow uniform with a white sleeve and a blue surgical mask. The sign has the text "Back To Business" printed on it in a bold, sans-serif font. The background is slightly blurred, showing what appears to be a kitchen or food service area with a sign that says "HATS".

IS YOUR BUSINESS RESILIENT TO COVID-19?

10 TIPS TO MAKE YOUR BUSINESS RESILIENT TO COVID-19

1. Stay informed
2. Plan how you will operate with absent employees
3. Identify your core products and services
4. Prepare your supply chain
5. Communicate with your employees and customers
6. Plan to modify your service delivery to customers
7. Establish policies for physical distancing and sanitizing workspaces
8. Apply for relief assistance to businesses
9. Protect employee health
10. Exercise your COVID-19 plan

5 ADDITIONAL TIPS TO HELP YOUR BUSINESS IF ALREADY IMPACTED

1. Ask your creditor, suppliers and others to defer rent payments, or pay in installments.
2. Build or modify your existing website or social media site to shift the focus to online sales and remote services.
3. Contact your local business associations including Chambers of Commerce to mobilize the local community to support small businesses in your area.
4. Disaster support and Government assistance package - Contact government agencies to find out about income support and loans for your employees to maintain their income.
5. Explore joining forces with other small businesses in your area to share information and offer mutual support.
